Wine Spectator, issue – May 31, 2007

Stringy Brae Shiraz 2004 Score 90

Lithe and distinctive. A peppery mouthful of blackberry and mint flavors, lingering on the finish. Almost feels aristocratic. Drink now through 2014.

Stringy Brae 2004 Shiraz 4.5 (5 Unbeatable – 4 Fine Drop)

Stringy Brae at Sevenhill in the Clare Valley has well earned a reputation for splendid Riesling, but don't ignore the reds. The 04' Cabernet Sauvignon should develop into an absolute purler over the next decade, ,but for now look out for the Shiraz. It's rich and warming, chock full of ripe blackberry flavour, plus hints of spicy oak, chocolate and licorice. A genuine lip-smacker.

Stringy Brae 2004 Shiraz 90 Points

Ripe Satsuma plum jams, with chocolate buttons thrown in for good measure, all working to make a sweet and lush wine in the mouth. It is full and rich, with nice enough texture to give some foundation to its plentiful fruit-bomb flavours.

Stringy Brae 2004 Shiraz 92/100

This Clare Valley winery is an improver, and its wines are good value. It's a rich, soft, vanilla and blackberry style with sweet fruit, supple tannins and delicious succulence. Lushings of flavour: a cuddly warm-area Shiraz. Drink now to six years. Acknowledge
